Report Russians Prepare Large Scale Offensive In Far North

By PETER DE HEMMER GUDME
International News Service Special Correspondent

HELSINKI, March 1.—More than 500,000 Soviet troops on the Carelian Isthmus brought tremendous pressure against the wrecked city of Viborg today, hurling 10 artillery shells a minute into its ruins and launching attacks designed to crush Finnish resistance by sheer weight alone.

Reports from the battle front said that Viborg has been "reduced to shambles" and that the artillery shells now hammering the city are blowing it to pieces."

The German consulate has been wrecked, eye witnesses said, adding that they had seen a picture of Chancellor Hitler swing precariously behind a hole in the consulate wall.

Large Scale Offensive

At the same time alarming reports came from the far northern Polar front where the Russians were said to have used the winter lull to prepare for a large-scale offensive which now is developing slowly but inexorably.

Latest estimates said that at least two full Russian divisions — about 30,000 men — now are rolling south-

Anglo-French Navies To Seize German Coal Enroute Toward Italy

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 1.—Confiscation by the Anglo-French navies of German coal en route to Italy by sea will commence at midnight tonight, it was stated authoritatively today.

Informed quarters pointed out that while "certain apprehension" appears to be felt regarding Britain's decision to confiscate this coal the British government never intended that such Reich exports should not be subject to British contraband control.

Italy has been informed of the British point of view, these sources added.

It was stated authoritatively that British quarters felt no further delay was justified in confiscating the German coal shipments since cer-

Lawyers Hear Able Addresses At Annual Banquet Last Night

Any time a group of lawyers sit around a table listening to another fellow talk for two hours they are either interested or too tired to get up. The Lawrence County Bar Association wasn't too tired to get up from the banquet table in the Field Club Thursday night, but they were difinitely interested in the address of Attorney David Glick of Pittsburgh who spoke on "Some Aspects of National Socialism."

Mr. Glick spent two years in Germany investigating the condition of Jews in that country and in those two years visited every city and hamlet there. He has the most intelligent picture of what National Socialism implies that has been presented here since the inception of it and the only two things that kept the crowd from staying all night was the time element and Mr. Glick's voice which succumbed under the barrage of cigar smoke.

Five More Die In California Flood Waters

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—A new break in the swollen Sacramento river claimed at least five additional lives today while levee crews waged an exhausting battle against the devastating effects of Northern California's worst flood in years.

The flood death toll mounted to nine when the river crashed through the center bypass four miles south of Meridian, releasing a wall of water that spilled over 35,000 acres of richly fertile farm land.

A mother and her four children, rescue workers reported, were trapped in an automobile and drowned in the new flood. The husband and father, F. Slehardy, was hurled out of the car, grasped a tree and managed to hang on until rescuers arrived.

Immediately after the bypass collapsed under the terrific pressure of the cresting river, rescue operations were launched simultaneously at Coluas and Marysville. Trucks and automobiles were mobilized at Colusa and rushed to the newly-stricken area to aid 1,500 persons in reaching higher ground.

Clarence Lehew, Of Elm Street, Fatally Injured Thursday Afternoon

CAUGHT BENEATH FROZEN EARTH

Crushed underneath a huge block of frozen earth, which broke away from the side of the bank of the North Mercer street storm sewer trench near the intersection of Elizabeth St., Clarence Lehew, aged 58, of 121 Elm St., was so badly injured at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon that he died ten minutes after he had been admitted to the Jameson Memorial hospital. Lehew's brother-in-law, Charles Grigg, of 210 Holton street, who was working with him in the trench miraculously escaped being caught beneath the same piece of dirt, and suffered only bruises of the left knee.

Lehew and Grigg were working in the trench pulling the cribbing which held back the walls of the trench, while the sewer was being laid. Suddenly, the huge piece of frozen dirt weighing many tons, broke away from the side of the bank and plunged down into the trench. Lehew and Grigg tried to leap to safety, and the latter was able to hurl his body out of the way of the avalanche, but Lehew's foot slipped on the snow and wet earth in the trench, and he fell underneath. By Ralph B. JORDAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 1—Gay and irrepressible Hollywood was shaking itself loose today from the big blow and the British blockade, because two stars from the merry old isle, green-eyed Vivien Leigh and soft-spoken Robert Donat had established a firm contraband control on acting honors, while most everything else in filmland had "gone with the wind."

Miss Leigh entered the hall of cinema immortals by capturing the motion picture academy's annual award for the best performance by an actress in 1939, while Donat carried away a companion golden statuette for the outstanding male role of the year.

Miss Leigh scored as the Scaret O'Hara of "Gone With the Wind," and Donat earned his tribute as the venerable schoolmaster in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips."

Von Ribbentrop Has Conference With U. S. Envoy

Welles Gets Nazi Attitude Toward War From Foreign Minister

TO MEET HITLER ON SATURDAY

American Envoy Told That Germany Confident Of Winning War

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, March 1.—All hope of peace in Europe is futile unless Great Britain abandons her "world monopoly" and throws open her sea routes to equal exploitation by Nazi Germany, Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop told Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles today.

So far as the war itself is concerned, a semi-official announcement said, the German army merely awaits a single word to strike the decisive blow which, when it comes, "will overshadow all previous military conceptions."

To Meet Hitler Saturday

The gist of Von Ribbentrop's argument, which formed a two-hour prelude to the American envoy's forthcoming conference with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, at 11 a. m. tomorrow, was made known in a semi-official statement which referred to the fact that Welles' visit coincided with the six months' anniversary of the outbreak of the war.

Von Ribbentrop emphasized to Welles the one salient point that Germany was determined to continue the war until a "Germanic peace", putting an end to British world domination, is achieved.

Von Ribbentrop placed the whole blame and responsibility for the war on Britain's shoulders in his talk with Welles, absolved Germany from any ulterior aims and declared that Britain and France had "repeatedly and bluntly rejected Hitler's peace offers".

Britain and France cannot beat Germany militarily or economically, the statement pointed out, and the Reich's aerial and submarine warfare eventually will triumph. The statement ended with a warning—presumably voiced by Von Ribbentrop himself—that neutrals will be ill-advised to "fall for British lures".

St. David is the patron saint of Welshmen, and so to mark the anniversary, you'll see a daffodil in many coat lapels, the weather's bright and up to forty-three.

President Will Sign Finnish Loan Bill

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

ABOARD U. S. S. LANG, March 1—President Roosevelt today announced he will sign the $100,000,000 export-import bank bill making possible a $20,000,000 loan to Finland on Saturday immediately upon his return to Washington from a vacation cruise.

Advised aboard his vacation ship, the cruiser Tuscaloosa, that congress had passed the measure, the president wirelessed Jesse Jones, RFC head, to proceed at once with loans as the measure provides.

As soon as he was apprised that congress had passed the bill increasing the export-import bank's capital to $100,000,000 and empowering it to lend up to $20,000,000 each to Finland, China and other neutrals, Mr. Roosevelt radioed Jones:

"Have just been advised of final passage of bill extending lending authority of export-import bank. I will sign this bill on Saturday and you may therefore proceed on this basis."

Lifting the veil of secrecy on his itinerary yesterday afternoon, the president announced the Tuscaloosa will arrive at Pensacola about noon today. He will entrain at once for Washington and arrive Saturday afternoon, terminating his 15-day 4,000 mile vacation cruise. On his jaunt, the president inspected the outer Pacific defenses of the Panama canal and other hemisphere fortifications.

Will Seek Greater Canal Defenses

Expect President To Ask For Funds

Special Message Will Likely Be Sent To Congress By Roosevelt

THOMAS OPPOSES NEW CANAL LOCKS

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 1.—President Roosevelt is expected to send a special message to congress asking additional money to increase Panama canal defenses, Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill revealed today.

The message probably will go to congress shortly after Mr. Roosevelt reaches Washingon Saturday. The executive is now sailing north from a vacation in southern waters, during which he made a thorough inspection of this country defenses in the canal zone and adjacent areas.

Postpone Consideration

In light of this, senators handling the $203,472,567 war department civil functions bill, from which the house cut funds for construction of an additional set of canal locks, postponed consideration until after Mr. Roosevelt's return.

Senator Thomas (D) Oklahoma, chairman of the senate appropriations subcommittee in charge of the bill, said he was adamantly opposed to additional canal locks, but explained that "the president may have other defense ideas".

"We want to know what the president has to say," he declared. "The president has consulted with canal officials and now has a clear picture of what is needed. He may send a special message down, and we would want to be guided by that."

Sidney Howard, the playwright, is dead, victim of a recent tragic accident on his Connecticut farm.

Zelznick was given the Irving G. Thalberg Memorial award, the most highly prized of executive honors, for "the most consistent high quality of production achievement by an individual producer."

ANGLO-FRENCH NAVIES TO SEIZE GERMAN COAL

tain differences have arisen in the Rome negotiations regarding Italian purchases of British coal.

Hope was expressed, however, that future conversations between London and Rome would result in an agreement under the Anglo-Italian clearing accord.

German coal shipments to Italy amount to 9,000,000 tons annually, of which 5,000,000 or 6,000,000 tons are sea borne.

In the present case, it was felt that Italy has been given sufficient time to find other sources of coal supplies.

Nevertheless, informed circles said they expected a vigorous Italian protest against the British decision to halt shipments of German coal to Italy and it was admitted that Anglo-Italian relations may become "delicate."

Surviving are one son, Paul V. Jones of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Mollie Sherrard of Edenburg and Mrs. Sarah Hickok of New Castle. She was preceded in death by a sister, Mrs. D. S. Williams, in May, 1928, and by a brother, Philip I Jones, in January, 1940.

Mrs. Eliza A. Bortz.

Mrs. Eliza A. Bortz, aged 85 years, died at 10:30 o'clock Thursday night in the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. W. Grossman, 209 East Winter avenue, following a long illness.

Mrs. Bortz was born February 25, 1855, in Lordstown, O., daughter of Samuel and Hester Moyer Sechler.

Most of her years were passed in Greenville. In 1914 she came to New Castle to live with her daughter. She was a member of St. John's Lutheran church.

Mrs. Bortz was preceded in death by her husband and two sons, Ralph D. and Warren L. Bortz. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. H. J. Nagel, of Toledo, O., and Mrs. Grossman, of New Castle, three grandsons, William A., Hugh L., and Louis W. Grossman, Jr., and one sister, Mrs. Irene Burwell, of Greenville.

Friends may call at the residence until 10:30 a. m. Monday when the body will be removed to the Jos. B. Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter, where funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. Aged Man Injured; Falls Down Stairs

Joe Predwitch, aged 68, of 102½ West Long avenue, was critically injured as a result of a fall down a flight of stairs, Thursday afternoon about 2:15 o'clock. He is confined to the New Castle hospital.

He suffered lacerations of the forehead and possible internal injuries.

was covered, and he was badly crushed about the pelvic area of his body.

Other workmen employed on the project placed a huge timber underneath the end of the piece of dirt and were able to raise it enough so that Lehew's body was extricated. He was scarcely breathing, but was revived by fellow workmen while an ambulance was on its way to remove him to the hospital. He was conscious when admitted to the hospital, it was stated, but died within a few minutes.

Second Fatality

The fatality was the second which has occurred in the construction of this particular sewer, John Cain having been fatally burned in a mysterious explosion of gas in the sewer trench last summer, and the series of unfortunate accidents has cast a pall of gloom over fellow workmen.

According to foreman J. W. Mercer, a peculiar condition exists in the ground at this point. The earth is a heavy clay, and between the side wall of the trench there is a wall of heavy clay almost three feet thick, which lays between the present sewer trench and other trench which was dug some years ago for a sanitary sewer which follows along the east side of Mercer street. Surface water had accumulated behind this ridge, and caused fissures through the action of the frost, causing the earth to give way yesterday. There is quite a stream of water running into the trench from the sidewall just at the spot where the cavein occurred yesterday.

Coroner Investigated

Dr. T. F. Nugent, county coroner, who was notified of the accident and who investigated the circumstances Thursday afternoon, stated today that he plans to have an inquest in the case on Monday evening.

Mr. Lehew was employed at the steel mill here from 1911 until it suspended operations in 1931. He was interested in sports and was a member of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association.

He was born in Belle Vernon, Pa., March 19, 1881. His father's name was Son Lehew, and his mother's, Margaret Behannon Lehew. Both are deceased.

Surviving are his wife, Lilly, one daughter, Doris Hazel, at home, two brothers, Dave and Bert Lehew, of Lancaster, O., three half-brothers, James Anderson, of Sebring, O., Loy and John Anderson, of New Castle, a half-sister, Mrs. Margaret Stewart, of Wheatland, and a nephew, Earl Lehew, of Chicago, Ill.

He was preceded in death by a daughter, Fay Mildred Lehew, in 1924, and a brother, Arthur, in 1929.

Funeral services will be conducted from the residence on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

to Germany" said Mr. Glick. "Hitler has convinced them that National Socialism is the hope of their Fatherland and they believe it. How long the war will last, what supplies they have stored, how long National Socialism can survive is a question for some one other than me. I only know that thus far the Germans are convinced that Hitler can lead them out and my reason for saying it is in each of the two years I saw the gatherings at Nuremburg when literally millions pledged their loyalty to Der Fuehrer."

Dispassionterly, Mr. Glick told of the constantly decreasing standard of German living of the ersatz (substitutes) that are used, of the quarantine of German marks, the woeful lack of foreign exchange and of the antithesis of National Socialism to Christianity of Judaism. Purposely he kept away from the plight of the Jewish people, lest he might distort the picture he was giving of Germany, and at the end of his address one was convinced that here was an observer who kept himself objectively to his subject, scorning to use any oratorical tricks or bids for sympathy for a stricken people in an effort to put his message across. In the opinion of this observer the Lawrence County Bar Association never had a more interesting speaker, and few his equal in the past twenty years.

Ask Many Questions

Following his address Mr. Glick answered questions and for an hour the attorneys rained questions at him, all of which he answered. It was a gripping picture of Germany he painted, and while one felt depressed at the picture of economic and social conditions, yet the loyalty of the German people, blind though it may be, could not but impress.

The address of Mr. Glick followed the annual turkey dinner which happened to be out of the top drawer so far as quality and quantity were concerned. Even Ed Logan got enough to eat which is the final test.

Former Judge James A. Chambers, president of the bar association acted as toastmaster of the evening and preceding Mr. Glick's address presented a group of "experts" who put on an "Inflammation Please" program. Attorney Clarence A. Patterson acted in the Clifton Fadiman role with Attorneys E. Kerfoot Logan, Gilbert E. Long and Joseph Solomon answering the questions. The program got a lot of laughs.

Afternoon Seminar

Branching out a little from the usually accepted line Chairman of the Day Robert M. White prepared a legal seminar for the afternoon hours which struck the fancy of the barristers. Two subjects were discussed, "Affiliation With The State Bar Association," led by Attorney Fred T. Fruit of Sharon and "Uniform Tax Assessment and Collection", led by Attorney Alvah M Shumaker.

In the matter of affiliation with the state bar association Attorneys Louis Wesser and Leo McKay and Judge W. Walter Braham spoke along with Mr. Fruit. In the uniform tax assessment discussion Attorneys George T. Weingartner, Robert L. Wallace and Alvin Fisher spoke.

Out of the Thursday afternoon seminar will likely come a series of such events with leaders of the bar throughout the state addressing them.

Between the seminar and the dinner an hour of fellowship was enjoyed, featured by an oyster snack. Freshly shucked oysters were on the tables with proper seasoning and an amazing number of the mollusks disappeared.

One note of sadness marked the dinner and that was the announcement by Judge Chambers of the death of Attorney William Ketner Hugus, long a beloved member of the Lawrence County Bar Association. His death occurred as his brother attorneys were sitting down to dinner.

The general committee of the day was headed by Attorney Robert M. White with Attorneys Hugh Graham, Allen D. Keller, and Joseph R. McFate serving with him. The carvers were Attorneys Charles Matthews, John G. Lamoree, Marshall G. Matheny, Randall B. Luke, J. Clyde Gilfillan and Robert White. The "radio" committee consisted of Attorney Gilbert E. Long as chairman, and Attornevs Edwin K. Logan, W. J. Caldwell, C. A. Patterson and Joseph Solomon.

said, the British aircraft reconnoitered a number of important German northwestern towns, including Hamburg, Bremen and Hanover.

There was no indication of any casualties suffered by the British planes and the air ministry termed the flights "successful."

"In the course of the night" said the communique, "the royal air force carried out a series of successful patrols and reconnaissance flights over enemy territory.

"They included the standing patrol over the Frisian Islands for the purpose of restricting the activity of enemy mine laying aircraft and reconnaissance patrols over the Baltic ports of Kiel and Lubeck.

"Our planes further reconnoitered a number of important towns in the northwest, including Hamburg Bremen and Hanover.

"The ports of Cuxhaven and Bruensbuttel and the Heligoland bight again were penetrated. In Central Germany the planes reached Berlin."

TAKING AVIATION LEAD

IN THE prospect that Britain and France will run their airplane orders in America up to one billion dollars appears also the prospect that at the end of the war this country in capacity of airplane output will find itself in the same dominant position it has occupied in the past and now occupies in automobile supply.

Today the American automobile is found in every quarter of the globe. It is standard.

With the war demand for planes mounting, American plane makers must enlarge their facilities and in time the pressure upon the conservative toolmakers and the engine-builders will become so great that these present brakes on output will be lifted.

After this war it is likely that there will be a sudden spurt forward in aviation as there was after the 1914-1918 conflict. It will be world-wide and the United States will furnish the bulk of the world's wings.

There are 40,000,000 automobile drivers on the highways of America. Will licensed aviation pilots ever approach this figure? They may, but how long it will take is anybody's guess.

Licensed to pilot airplanes in America today are about 23,000 persons. There are another thousand licensed to pilot gliders. Aviation mechanics number 10,000. Some 15,000 have permits as student pilots in private schools.

Now the government has stepped in with a program which seeks the eventual training of 100,000 pilots, recruited mostly from colleges. In a current report the Civil Aeronautics Authority says 9,267 students have already accumulated 80,000 flying hours without an accident. In the non-college group 7,000 have enrolled.

Will most of these become pilots? Nearly all of them. In a sampling project last year the government used 330 students. Of these 313 obtained certificates and 224 now are flying regularly.

These figures are all in thousands, while motor car drivers are numbered by millions. But avaition has already captured the imagination of youth and as the years pass the ranks of pilots will expand amazingly.

CONVENTION GAINS

Among other examples illustrating how ample arithmetic can become in the hands of those in high hopes of a profit from a buy is the way Philadelphia is now figuring its returns on the investment of $200,000 for the Republican National Convention.

As Philadelphia computes its gains, 100,000 visitors will attend and will leave in the city the sum of $12,000,000. That is a lot of money and of course it is a guess.

However, a guess can be backed up mathematically and conveniently by estimates reduced to detail. So A. Russell Phillips, director of the hotel and tourist bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, has put among the larger items the "take" of the stores from convention visitors at $2,850,000; theaters and night clubs, $1,908,00; wholesalers and manufacturers, $1,524,000; transportation companies, $552,000.

If this expert's figures are close to the mark, it would seem that political conventions are a good buy at the price cities usually pay for them.

ELECTION WEATHER VANE

The first weather vane elections which may have a bearing on the approaching Presidential sweepstakes have been held in Ohio. They were contests to fill two vacancies in the House of Representatives at Washington caused by death.

In the Twenty-second district, normally Republican, Mrs. Frances P. Bolton, Republican, was elected to succeed her late husband.

In the Seventeenth district, customarily Democratic, following a campaign in which the New Deal was the prime issue, Republican J. Harry McGregor, floor leader in the Ohio House of Representatives, was elected, defeating the nephew of the deceased Democratic Representative from the district. McGregor received 27,000 votes to 22,000 for his opponent.

A margin of 5,000 votes in a Congressional district which went Democratic two years ago, in a special election in which the vote is customarily light, following a campaign in which the New Deal was the issue, would seem to give the Republicans something to enthuse over.

JOBS—AND DOLLARS

Continued unemployment in the United States has become a major handicap to the Democratic party. In 1931 the Republicans were blamed for the depression; in 1940 the Democrats will not be able to escape blame for the fact that 9,000,000 Americans are still jobless. That the Republicans are determined to make the most of unemployment as a political issue is clear from their emphasis on it in Lincoln Day speeches.

This newspaper is not concerned with unemployment's effect on the political parties; it is profoundly concerned with unemployment's effect on the unemployed and the nation. And in two of the Lincoln Day speeches we found light on unemployment. Herbert Hoover at Omaha and Thomas Dewey at Portland, Oregon, pointed clearly to dollars without jobs as a major cause for men without jobs.

Mr. Hoover said, "Our private capital has gone into air-raid cellars. Our surplus bank deposits have piled up above the private demand for them by over seventeen billions in six years." Mr. Dewey said, "Our productive plant and equipment have been running down at the heel at the average rate of more than $1,000,000,000 a year." These are two ways of saying the same thing: private capital has piled up in bank surpluses instead of renewing America's productive equipment.—The Christian Science Monitor.

Congress has voted another $50,000 to investigate the Labor Board. Thus Congress will continue to get a look-in, which is more than the board gave to a lot of employers.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CURE THUMB-SUCKING HABIT

IMAGINE the agonies of a child who has sucked his thumb for years and years! Think of the shame, ridicule, rebuke, exhortations, nagging to which he has been exposed. Think, too, of the worry to his parents.

In order to help such a child you must win his co-operation and prove to him he can break the habit. To this end the first step is to discipline yourself and the rest of the family to quit hounding him about the habit, and to quit entirely. The next step is to set the stage so he can succeed in conquering the habit for a very brief time. A whole day, even one hour, is too long, as a rule. Ten or 15 minutes make a safer test.

I want to report to you two cases whose treatment I directed and who responded with complete and permanent recovery. One was a boy, nine years old, whose teacher wished to attack the problem at school. She was advised to work out a secret plan with the lad whereby she would observe his thumb-sucking only during the first 15 minutes of the school day, at which time he would try hard to keep his thumb from his mouth. She would record a symbol in a book for each successful morning, leaving blank a space each morning when he failed. When he managed to get 10 marks of success in the book, he was to get a prize. During the rest of the day she would wholly ignore his thumb.

The lad won 10 marks in 10 days and got the prize. Even by the fifth day he said he believed he could succeed all day. On the eighth day he told his teacher he was sure he had cured himself for good, but they continued until he won the prize. The cure was checked after several months and found to have been permanent.

The second boy was 12. He and his mother worked on the problem at home, agreeing on the period from 5:00 to 5:15 p. m. After the lad had won the symbol on eight successive days he told his mother she did not need to bother about the prize, for he knew now he could conquer the thumb. He did. The mother told me after a year that the cure was permanent.

These successes were great compliments to the teacher and parent who made them possible. In each case the child eagerly wanted to succeed and discovered that he could succeed for the short, definite periods. With this assurance he had the courage to attack the problem all the day. Another essential item in the plan was that the teacher and parent, believing it would work, revealed their faith that it would, keeping all rebuke and condemnation from the child.

Rewards are good when they work so as to prepare the ship to sail under its own steam, and don't stir up jealousies in a rival. Many efforts fail, and therefore do harm, because vague or impossible hurdles are set up. When, for example, a certain mother, at Thanksgiving, promised her boy, four years old, a tricycle if he would not climb into her bed again until Christmas, the plan failed. But when she promised him a star for every night he stayed in his own bed, and the tricycle as soon as he had earned 10 stars, it worked. He won the prize after eleven days and stayed in his own bed thereafter.

A. No, but with a good assistant I would put the medicine into him as quickly and effectively as possible, saying as little as possible.

THE OLD SEWING BAG

Sometimes when old Crankmire at peace seemed to be
He liked to recall his lost boyhood to me.
He'd chuckle with mirth o'er some memory he had
Then tenderly speak of some tragedy sad,
So I wasn't surprised when he mentioned in jest
The sewing bag deep which his mother possessed.

"Do you remember the depth of those bags,
Storing all things for sewing from ball gowns to rags
The one of my mother's with memories was rife,
I'll swear in its contents the past came to life!
There was silk from a bodice and stuff from a skirt
And even the tail from my grandfather's shirt."

As we sat at her knee she would tell us about
The pieces of satin and silk she pulled out
"This was your fathers, and proud was he then;
In all the world like him, were very few men.
This bit of brocade in a linen cloth tied
Is part of a dress, which I wore as a bride."

"I wonder" said he "if the women today
Have nowhere to put their old dresses away?
Have machines and devices so altered our lives
That sewing's no longer a duty for wives?
If so, then, however do mothers contrive
To bring back the past and to keep it alive?"

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:51. Sun rises tomorrow 6:33.

"Shoots Self in Accident," and "Youth Pulls Trigger, Wounds Self In Error," are headlines we noted in contemporary issues. People do shoot themselves in funny places, it would seem.

A statistician has figured that if one travels at the rate of 30 miles an hour and gets 15 miles to a gallon of gasoline on his car, he pays about 11 cents an hour in gasoline taxes. From this we would conclude that a motorist pays more than he has any idea.

FOR THE RAINY DAY

"My brother is an expert at ribbing."

"Why doesn't he go to Hollywood?"

"It doesn't rain enough there. He's an umbrella mender."

The decline in automobile deaths seems to have reached the saturation point last year, as January showed an increase of 15 over the same period in 1939. Maybe a good little speed campaign by the state coppers would prove effective. Motorists probably think that the boys on the motorcycles aren't interested in the speed limit any more.

Neighbors are like your digestion. The less you are aware of them, the better they are.

In other words, John L. Lewis cannot follow Roosevelt any farther if Roosevelt will no longer walk behind him.

A great pity it is that typical matchmakers never have the strategy of fishermen. The latter camouflage their bait, their nets and lures, but, oh, how transparently the former flaunt them. When in the presence of dear daughter's eligible beau, the average matron finds it is difficult to resist poking her net at him as to resist spilling the latest scandal over the back fence to neighborly Mrs. Snoop. And how few women realize that every man is equipped with a special psychic power of divining the intentions of girls' mothers—also an innate resistance against them. All of which explains why maternal objections generally fan the flame of youthful romance.

Reader's Questions Answered

Dear Miss Market: I have been invited to a hotel for dinner. There will be another girl and two men in the party. Will you please tell me what I should wear. Are evening clothes obligatory?—M. T.

Answer: To be technaically correct, people should wear dinner clothes to dinner, especially in de luxe hotels. But the rush of business today has caused many of us to disregard this convention. We now see as many people having dinner in daytime clothes as in evening clothes, even in the best hotels.

If, after dinner you are going to the theatre or a party requiring evening clothes, you should "dress." But if your plans include nothing more than a quiet dinner with a movie afterward, street clothes will suffice.

At any rate, consult the other members of your party as to what they will wear and dress accordingly. A group of people spending the evening together should be dressed uniformly — either in street clothes or in evening clothes.

Hoover In Row With Congress
Wants Civil Service For F.B.I.
Objects To Finger-Print Men

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, MARCH 1.

CHIEF J. EDGAR HOOVER of the justice department's bureau of investigation seems to be getting into a mean row with congress over the civil service-ing of his organization.

The FBI (Federal Bureau of Investigation) isn't generally under Civil Service rules. The theory is that these FBI sleuths are specialists, who can't properly be picked, for employment, by the ordinary rules of competitive examination. That is to say, you couldn't select a Shelock Holmes on such a basis. Sherlock, for instance, might not be able to pass in arithmetic or grammar. Yet maybe he could be a wonderful snooper. Thus, Civil Service rules wouldn't fit, in his case.

But there's one stunt for which anybody ought to be qualified—or otherwise. The fingerprint division! It requires only first-class eyesight and a magnifying glass to spot fingerprint evidence. It would appear so, anyway.

Accordingly, the FBI's fingerprinters were civil service-lized. Not the rest of the bunch.

Now Chief Hoover objects even to that modicum of semi-civilization.

Hoover's Story

Hoover's story is that the Civil Service commission has "certified" to him, as finger printers, "Communists, criminals and miscellaneous lunatics."

Chairman Robert Ramspeck of the representatives' Civil Service committee is right on the job to accuse J. Ed Hoover of hostility to the whole civil service principle, dating back a generation and a half at the least calculation.

Not to exaggerate, Congressman Rampspeck speaks of Hoover's dope as "dastardly."

It appears that the Civil Service examiners have not, as a matter of fact, questioned prospective fingerprinters relative to their political and economic view. They've taken it for granted that they were honest, if their recommendations looked all right and they've assumed that they were sane if they acted that way. Their notion has been that the essential part of their examinatorial work was to satisfy themselves as to the candidates' educational qualifications for the positions they aspired to.

And Congressman Ramspeck maintains that the examiners' selections have been o. k., too.

His version is that G-Chief Hoover hates the whole competitive Civil Service principle that—he sizes up a successful examinee as a political, economic, social, moral or mental pervert, not on his individual merits or demerits, but merely because the latter is getting into his finger printing division by a method that he (J. Edgar) doesn't approve of.

Not Altogether Popular

The truth is that there are quite a few congressmen with whom the FBI isn't altogether popular. They regard it as a kind of a potential OGPU or GESTAPO.

Nobody charges that that's what it is now, but back in Harry M. Daugherty's day as attorney general, when William J. Burns was his boss investigator, plenty of ugly tales were told of it—to the effect that its operatives broke into the offices of anti-administration senators and representatives, ransacked their filing cabinets and engaged in numerous other questionable activities.

That's a thing of the long past, but it isn't entirely forgotten.

The treasury's secret service never has had any scandals, nor has the postoffice department's, though the postal inspectors have been accused of some errors of judgment.

Nevertheless, lots of congressional objections were raised not so long ago, when somebody suggested the desirability of consolidating the FBI, the treasury and postoffice investigatorial groups and the army and navy information divisions. The complaint was that such a setup would be demoncratically dangerous and the plan flattened out very speedily.

J. Edgar Hoover's competency as a super-detective isn't questioned, but there's quite a bit of sentiment to the effect that he wants too much authority.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1940) by The Baltimore Sun

Weeping Over Mr. Weir

WASHINGTON, March 1.

THE curious mental operations of the New Dealers whom Mr. Roosevelt has brought to Washington and by whom he is surrounded are not easy to explain except upon the ground that there is something about their associations and their creed that, after a while, renders even the best among them incapable of a detached view or a fair judgment.

APPARENTLY molding themselves upon the President, it is the custom of his aides, all the way from Cabinet members to the professional propagandists, to regard as evil and dangerous performances of Administration opponents which seem perfectly proper, and even commendable, when practiced by themselves. This attitude, perhaps natural in the jobholders and the paid publicity directors, extends also to supposedly independent writers who apparently have absorbed so much poison from the early smearing brigade that their sense of justice, to say nothing of their sense of humor, is in a numbed condition.

THE result is that they bristle with indignation over happenings in one camp which in the other they either completely overlook or find some means of sanctifying. The most recent instance is in the pained outcry of New Dealers over the selection of Mr. Ernest T. Weir, of the National Steel Company, as chairman of the Republican finance committee. A series of dreadful charges are leveled at Mr. Weir. First, he is a millionaire; second, he thinks the New Deal wholly bad; third, he is not in line with the Frank report; fourth, he represents the reactionaries who "if they pay, the piper will call the tune"; fifth, he is "not in sympathy with the liberal movement." And so on and

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

MODERN COWBOYS

The West yet lures the youth of the East. Buffalo Bill's life on the prairies is yet a fascinating story to the adventurers. In the days of the great Buffalo hunts, young riders learned how to round up the thundering herds by apprenticeship to an experienced buffalo hunter.

Now there are 388 buffaloes on the government's refuge in Oklahoma, and moving the animals from one pasture to another requires expert round-up technique, and there are so few experienced riders that William E. Drummond, old-time cowhand and ranger on the Bureau of Biological Survey's Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge has asked for volunteers and is getting them. Here are some of his instructions to young riders in the round-ups.

When approaching a buffalo herd, ride slowly, Ranger Drummond advises neophyte "cowboys." The horse should be walked if possible, since this is the best way to keep the herd from running.

Contrary to the tenderfoot's ideas about the Kings of the Plains, when a rider has approached fairly close to a herd he should stop completely. Stand very still and most of the time, assures Mr. Drummond the buffaloes will come right up to look the riders over.

If the buffaloes should start to run, a few riders should circles in front of them. By keeping their circling, the animals often can be stopped from stampeding.

Drummond declares that though a buffalo often looks a though it is ready to swallow both horse and rider, there is little danger unless the buffalo is a cow with calf. "Then it is a good policy to give her the air," he admits.

Discussing the habits of these animals, the Survey Ranger reminds young riders that no one knows what a Buffalo will do, and one should govern his conduct accordingly.

"This much is certain," warns Drummond, "if a buffalo raises his tail and starts for you, give him plenty of room."

Drummond is hopeful of having more experienced riders when the Biological Survey holds its next buffalo round-up on the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge.

Babson Discusses Trend Of Business

By ROGER W. BABSON

(Copyright, 1940, Publishers Financial Bureau)

BABSON PARK, Fla., March 1.—Paced by the fast moving steel business, industrial activity has dipped six per cent under the ten-year peak reached in December. Statistics show that retail trade and service businesses, however, have been holding at the high levels of late 1939. Most people with whom I talked on my trip to Boston during the past fortnight believe that the current sag in industrial activity is is no more than a natural reaction from the too rapid rise last Fall. They believe the down trend will be abruptly halted and the trend reversed in the next month or two.

BABSON

This same optimistic outlook was the keynote of my Annual Mid-Winter Business Conference held here in Florida within the last few days. All are agreed that industrial activity has slacked off since the turn of the year; but they also report that retail trade and service businesses have been moving along at, or near, the top rate of recent months. The Babsonchart confirms these reports. It has dropped from its peak of 120.5 in December to 113.0 at the present time. This represents a total decline of only six per cent.

Steel On Toboggan Slide

The biggest part of this six per cent loss is accounted for by a very sharp slowing down in one industry—steel and allied lines. Steel operations have plummeted from 94 per cent of capacity in mid-December to 67.0 per cent at current writing. This is the lowest operating rate since last Summer. The decline has completely erased the sensational skyrocketing of steel operations last Fall. Moreover, new steel orders are coming through so slowly that at the moment they are not sufficient to maintain operations even at the present rate. I believe, however, that there will soon be a pick-up.

Other pivotal industries such as textiles, shoes, paper and lumber have shared in the decline from the December peak. While January motor assemblies hit a new all-time peak for any January in history, they have been slowing down since. However, there have been no such drastic declines in the above group of industries as in steel. Textiles are off 10 per cent, freight traffic 15 per cent, power five per cent—the average probably being less than 10 per cent.

Trade Holding Well

Meanwhile, mail order and department store merchants all over the country report good retail trade. The early Easter this year may account for part of the current gain over a year ago, but it does not explain the entire step-up in sales tempo. Much of the gain can be credited to a substantial improvement in factory payrolls, farm income, and investors' dividends—all of which are chugging along well above last year's figures. Retail prices are four per cent above the level of last March, while increased public buying power has pushed total dollar sales up even higher.

Sparkplug of last Fall's boomlet was the sudden revival of the heavy industries. This put the "oomph" in the 1939 recovery. Biggest worry of business men with whom I have talked is the current slackening in these industries. The gloom-mongers fear that the heavy businesses such as railroad equipment, road building machinery, steel and iron, construction, and similar lines will sink back in their bog of inactivity. My opinion is, however, that the backlog of war business on hand will make 1940 a good year for these industries—with or without further large Allied orders.

Decline Sooner Than Expected

My Outlook for the First Half of 1940 called for the best six months' period since 1929, but at the same time for downward dips. The drop since the turn of the year came quicker and has been sharper than I anticipated, but the Winter has also been more severe. Blizzards have tied up business from Hudson Bay almost to the Gulf of Mexico and from coast to coast. Nevertheless, business is still 14 per cent above a year ago which is in line with the 10 to 15 per cent gain that I predicted. Moreover, I agree with the summary of the Florida Business Conference that the downtrend should soon be halted and the background laid for renewed advance.

The European situation and the uncertainty of our own political picture have given business men another attack of the jitters. When the current period of "watchful waiting" will end, no one dares forecast, but that it must end sometime everyone is agreed. When it does, it will sign off with just as big a bang as similar periods have finished up in the past. My message today, therefore, is: Do not be caught napping when the time to move comes. With business fluctuating in these short, sharp cycles, you must be ready to work fast when the business light turns green!

so forth—all of it indistinguishable from the stock stuff of the party publicity agents.

ONE of the more intelligent of these New Dealish writers, in voicing his grief about Mr. Weir, resorted to demagoguery of which he should be ashamed in describing "these millionaires around here dripping salty tears on the polished decks of their beautiful yachts." Perhaps this was meant to appease his New Deal friends, provoked because he recently spoke out against a third term, but it was well below his usual level. Others, less high-grade, have seized upon Mr. Weir with the same ferocity with which four years ago they seized upon the Liberty League and the stunned du Ponts. Perhaps they are justified. This is not written in defense of Mr. Weir. Though there is slight evidence of it, he may be a fiend in human form who itches to enslave us all. But that is not the question. The question is why these gifted writers should so excite themselves over the selection of Mr. Weir, who, after all, would seem normally designed for a finance chairman, and remain calm and contented about—even oblivious to—the multimillionaires, fat cats, yacht owners and economic royalists who for seven years have supplied a large part of the New Deal campaign fund—and are still at it.

ARE not Mr. "Tony" Biddle, Mr. "Jimmie" Cromwell and Mr. "Joe" Davies millionaires? Are not the decks of the large and lovely yachts which they own highly polished? Does not Mr. Vincent Astor, with whom the President used regularly to spend his vacations, possess a not too small boat and did he not once contribute more than a few dollars? And what about that stainless and selfless official of the Democratic Committee, Mr. "Chip" Roberts? Is there nothing all about the way of giving money or getting money of such gentlemen to arouse the wrath of these literary opponents of "idle wealth" and "selfish greed"? And then there was the activity of Mr. Roosevelt's friend, Mr. Walker, in collecting (one man referred to it as "macing") funds from other men of great fortunes to erect that Hyde Park memorial in which Mr. Roosevelt will put his public and private papers.

WAS there nothing in that or in replenishing the party coffers through the sale of very cheap Presidentially autographed campaign books at exorbitant and ridiculous prices to individuals and corporations—was there nothing in that to arouse the anger of these militant gentlemen who are so sensitive to the source of campaign funds and the method of gathering them? Perhaps, there is no connection, but it nevertheless seems reasonable also to mention here the recent disclosure that the Roosevelt and Sargent insurance firm in which Mr. Jimmie Roosevelt still has an interest and in which his mother is a director, recently secured the insurance business of the Government-controlled Dollar shipping line, of which not very long ago, at the suggestion of his father, ex-Senator McAdoo was made the head.

IT may be that Mr. Roosevelt's firm got this business away from the San Francisco firm which had had it for years—as he has contended it got all other business—solely on merit and without any political or personal pressure or consideration whatever. It may be that "Jimmie," notoriously unmercenary, didn't even know about it. It is mentioned here not to make any unkind insinuation against a noble young man, but merely to remark that if, for example, while he was President, one of Mr. Herbert Hoover's sons had been revealed as even remotely connected with a firm which solicited and accepted such business from a Government-owned concern, the righteous and talented journalists who today weep over Mr. Weir would have broken all records in the expression of their horror. As for the Administration publicity agents—they would have shouted for the impeachment of the President and the jailing of his son. It, of course, makes a lot of difference whose ox is being gored, but it does seem that those whose business is supposed to require an impartial view of both sides of the picture might perceive the absurdity of pointing out the specks on one only.

Harry Alexander Is Host At Florida Chicken Dinner

(By JAMES P. CALDWELL

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 28—Knights of the Round Table had nothing on New Castleites who were given a chicken dinner at two round tables by Harry Alexander, retired railroad executive of New Castle, Tuesday evening.

The affair was staged in the basement of Trinity Lutheran church. The two round tables on which the menu was served, were eight feet each in diameter. Round tables were chosen because they afford more room for diners to expand horizontally, and when Harry throws a dinner you need plenty of room sidewise. These tables were higher than the ordinary, or the chairs were lower. We could scarcely figure out which. Anyway the distance from plates to the intake was shorter, which helps a lot when you are hungry.

I'm probably infringing on the bill of rights so far as Florida is concerned when I refer to Harry's banquet as a chicken dinner. Floridians would call it a Florida chicken dinner. They're great for boosting their home state. Just as we Pennsylvanians delight in singing the praises of our beautiful landscapes and waterscapes. When restaurants serve you a hard-boiled egg here, they call it a Florida egg. The poor hen that laid it gets no credit. That's why tourists see so many dejected looking hens in the local poultry yards.

The beauty parlors give women Florida hair waves instead of conventional finger waves. Men smoke Florida cigars instead of the standard brands. Even Luna is called the Florida moon down here, because it's obscured only by tobacco smoke. But the attempt to extoll the beauties of a Florida moon don't always impress tourists. We heard a North Carolinian say the other day that they have better moonshine up his way. We didn't argue the question for he had a red nose.

In Attendance

But I seem to be rambling from the subject of Harry Alexander's dinner. Those on the receiving end of the chicken were the following: Mr. and Mrs. John Baer, Mrs. Lila Hauser, H. A. Baer, Mr. and Mrs. P. K. Fike, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Allen, Mrs. Margaret Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stone, Miss Sarah Markel, Mrs. Mary Shilling, Jacob Kahrer, Mrs. Mary Wood, and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Caldwell, all of New Castle, with the exception of Mrs. Shilling, a former resident who is now located here permanently. Another former resident was Mrs. Jennie Fleming, widow of the late Jas. Fleming whose home is now in California. She has rented her home, and came here to enjoy a little sunshine. There was also another guest, Mrs. John Zenn of McKeesport, who has some connection with New Castle but I didn't get the particulars.

Conversation at the banquet naturally resolved itself around the folks back home. We discussed the kind of weather you have been having according to the dire reports published in the Florida newspapers, and corroborated by some truth loving citizens of New Castle including the Hoon brothers who have gone back to see if it is getting any better. So far as I can believe the reports you have been having one of those old fashioned winters, around which so many traditions have been built. Those winters when ear muffs and pulse warmers were as welcome as a hot brick in the bed at night.

But I can hardly believe that this winter up north has been as bad as we old timers remember as the winter of the deep snow. That was some sixty years ago, when the only chains we used were those that bound us to the family fireside I was living out at Plaingrove at that time and I remember that the snow began falling in late November, and remained on the ground until April. There was between two and three feet of snow on the level all winter, and the Plaingrove road, running north from Elliott's mills, was drifted to the tops of the stake-and-rider fences.

Time For Dessert

But I find myself rambling again. Getting back to Harry Alexander's chicken dinner, it is time for dessert, and the conversation is drifting to personal experiences. W. J. Allen, who underwent a very serious operation before coming down here this season, has almost completely recovered. He announced that he had built a house in five weeks and has moved in. He invited me to come down and see the house, so I have no reason to doubt his word. He has also started another house. St. Petersburg is enjoying quite a building boom, dwellings, hotels and apartment houses are going up all over the city and real estate is quite active.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Chapman, who have been down here twice this season, expect to start home in a few days. Harry Alexander and John Baer and party will probably leave about next Monday as they want to be here for Sunday school next Sunday. No clue has been obtained as to who stole their overcoats at Miami. However, their loss will be some gain to the decent people of this far southern city, for it helped in starting J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-men, in his clean-up of crime. Already there have been a batch of arrests and finger prints are being taken in an effort to clear up the mystery of the two lost overcoats.

Many of the tourists who have been stopping here on their way from Miami tell dire stories of the crime wave. They say they got tired of carrying their teeth down to hotel offices to have them locked in the safes at night.

It seems I can't control my rambling, so I'll bring this letter to a close, hoping that Harry Alexander comes down again this winter and that our appetites for chick remain unaffected by any rules from Washington.

Pulaski Church Canvass Sunday

Every Member Canvass Planned For Sunday; Other News Of Church Given

Trustees and elders of the Pulaski Presbyterian church will make an every member canvass next Sunday, March 3, and plan to visit the homes of all Pulaski Presbyterians in the district.

The annual business meeting of the Missionary society of the church will be held in the home of Mrs. Mary Jennings on Wednesday, March 6. This will be an all day meeting.

The Boy Scouts have a new and efficient leader in Scoutmaster Hans Holm. Mr. Holm is one of the best qualified scoutmasters in western Pennsylvania.

Twenty-four ladies of the Women's Bible class of the church were entertained Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Cal Boyd, with Mrs. W. D. Lewis as co-hostess. The ladies had a very successful year, it was reported, and were able at this meeting to turn over $50 to the trustees of the church; they were also able to turn over a nice sum to the work of the Missionary society.

A large and appreciative audience saw the Colonial pageant, "Spirit of '76", on Washington's birthday in the Pulaski Presbyterian church, presented by the Pulaski Young People's Council and sponsored by the eight churches of the district. Enough money was made to hire an automobile to take delegates to the Sunday school convention at Wilkes-Barre next fall.

Federal Income Tax In Nutshell

AUTOMOBILE DEDUCTIONS

With the number of automobile owners registering in the millions, the question of deductions for the cost of operation and maintenance of a motor-car frequently arises. The purchase price of an automobile, whether it is to be used for business or pleasure, cannot be deducted from gross income. If used for business, it is a capital expenditure; if used for pleasure, it is a personal expenditure—both deductions being expressly prohibited by the income-tax law.

Several deductions, however, are allowable in connection with the cost of maintenance and operation of an automobile, used either for business or pleasure. If used exclusively for business, deductions may be taken for the cost of gasoline, oil, repairs, garage rent, and other necessary operation and upkeep expenses. Depreciation based on the cost of the car and its estimated useful life, also is deductible.

Other deductible items are as follows: Sums paid during the taxable year for registration fees, personal property tax, and municipal taxes; interest on money borrowed for the purchase of a motorcar, either for business or for pleasure; loss sustained by reason of damage while car is being used for business, provided such loss is not covered by insurance or otherwise; damages paid for injury to another, provided that the car was being used for business at the time, and the damage was not covered by insurance or otherwise; and the amount paid for insurance on motor vehicles used for business purposes.

Mrs. Bessie Walls Tells Of Elm St. Y.W.C.A. Program

Elm Street Branch Of Y. W. C. A. Gives Fine Service To Community

Mrs. Bessie Walls, chairman of the education committee of the Elm Street Branch of the Y. W. C. A., urges all colored women of New Castle to become Y W. C. A. members during the membership ingathering which was launched this week.

"We need you as general members to serve on the various committees," Mrs. Walls states. "We need your thought and talent in group leadership.

The Elm Street Branch for colored people sponsors six clubs for women and girls, and each club meets weekly. There is the Eva Bowles club for young married women, the Joy Givers club, for industrial girls, two Junior and one Senior Girl Reserve clubs, for school girls, and the Alice in Wonderland club for girls from 2 to 12 years old. The Branch, in co-operation with the Tuberculosis Society, conducts a well-baby clinic every Thursday from 2 to 4 o'clock, under the capable supervision of a doctor and a nurse. The Branch serves the community as a center for social clubs, lodges, church groups and other organizations of the city. Although membership is not required in order to enjoy the privileges of this institution, they are much desired, for their assistance is needed in the developing of Christian individuals in a Christian society.

City Council Seeks To Determine If Employes Are Covered Enroute

During council meeting in city hall, Thursday council instructed city attorneys to peruse the city's insurance contracts and ascertain if employes enroute to and from city work who suffer injuries are entitled to insurance.

Councilman W. H. Dunlap told council that recently two street department workers were hurt either going to or traveling from work and the company carrying the insurance had disclaimed liability.

Councilman David O. Davies pointed out that employes of some corporations here are "covered by insurance" while journeying to and from work.

Dunlap urged a study by city legal lights because "the city is spending $8,000 for insurance."

Tri-County FFA Chapter Formed

John D. McFate, Of North Beaver Named President Of Chapter

GROUP CONVENES AT PORTERSVILLE

Presidents of thirteen chapters of Future Farmers of America from Butler, Lawrence and Beaver counties met in the agriculture room of the Portersville high school and organized a Tri-County chapter of F. F. A.

The thirteen local chapters included in the Tri-County chapter are Slippery Rock, West Sunbury, Evans City, Zelienople, Winfield, and Portersville, of Butler county; North Beaver, New Wilmington, East Brook, Harlansburg, and Princeton, of Lawrence county; and Darlington and Beaver Falls of Beaver county.

The following officers were elected: John D. McFate, North Beaver, president; Jim Mackenzie, Beaver Falls, vice president; Paul Beighley, Slippery Rock, secretary; Lloyd McCracken, Harlansburg, treasurer; Perry Pherson, East Brook, reporter. E. C. Wiggins, vocational supervisor of Lawrence, Butler and Beaver counties, will serve as adviser to the new chapter.

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization of farm boys studying vocational agriculture. The Tri-County chapter was organized to foster a closer relationship among F. F. A. chapters in the three counties and to fill the gap between these local chapters and the state chapter.

The problem with which the new chapter is chiefly concerned at present is the arrangement of elimination contests in judging livestock and crops, horsemanship, farm mechanics, and public speaking. These contests are necessary to select district teams to enter similar contests at State College in June.

The next meeting of the Tri-County chapter will be held at Portersville March 18.

Handling Mail For Army At Front Is Huge Task

By KENNETH DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES ON THE WESTERN FRONT—(via clipper)—It was 9 a. m., but the gray cold hung like a shroud over the village and the whole valley, and so it still seemed like dawn. The lorry drivers and their helpers flapper their arms to keep warm while they waited.

Finally the train, more than an hour late, steamed into sight. The drivers and their helpers jumped into their lorries and started up the motors. The train shunted eight baggage cars into a siding, tooted, and rattled down the valley.

The cars had hardly stopped moving before the trucks were backed up to them and the helpers were swarming in and throwing out the packed mail sacks. Some B. E. F. trucks were backed up and Tommies were loading big mail sacks from England into their machine. There was much shouting and general hubbub as the crews raced to be loaded and away first.

The daily important event of the armies—the arrival of the mails—was taking place.

The train contained one day's mail for one army. The lorries left for secondary distributing centers where the mail would be re-sorted to go in other, smaller lorries to divisions, there to be distributed to regiments and companies and finally individual troops.

It sounds complicated, but actually, the whole distribution takes less than a day. Even the men in the outposts usually receive their mail by night, or at any event by the next night after its arrival at the army distributing center.

There are roughly 15,000,000 letters received and sent by the troops of the French armies daily, as well as thousands of packages.

All of this mail is handled by the military postal service which has special trains and fleets of lorries and a large, highly-trained personnel which is mainly made up of troops who were employed in the civil post office in peace time.

City Attorneys Will Look Into Merger Plans

Application of the Manufacturers Light & Heat company, Manufacturers Gas company, Pennsylvania Fuel Supply company and Greensboro Gas company as the Manufacturers Light & Heat company and acquisition by that company of the rights of the Gettysburg Gas corporation, Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company, Fayette County Gas company and Natural Gas company of West Virginia will be scrutinized by city attorneys.

This was decided upon Thursday by council, which met in city building, following a suggestion to that effect offered by Mayor Charles B. Mayne.

The application was heard by the Public Utilities Commission in Pittsburgh some time ago and the hearing was adjourned until March 8.

Mayor Mayne informed colleagues it was for the city attorneys to learn if the proposed merger and acquisition would bring increased rates.

Farmers Borrow State Snowplow

Take Matters Into Own Hands When Plow Breaks Down Near Harrisburg

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 1.—Farmers of nearby West Hanover township, snowed in by the St. Valentine's day storm, took things in their own hands to clear township roads.

Borrowing a "lost" snowplow belonging to the State Department of Highways, the farmers turned the job of plowing the roads into a community affair.

The plow, salvaged from a snow drift after being abandoned by highway workers, was repaired and used without any help from highway maintenance forces.

The farmers paid for the maintenance of the plow from start to finish.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

"Sixteen Attacked by Mad Dog!" So reads the headline.

The bite of a mad dog is beset with peril.

It calls for the long-drawn-out Pasteur prophylactic treatment.

This includes a drastic series of hypodermic injections.

The use of preventive vaccine does not solve the problem of rabies.

There should be no need for the Pasteur treatment.

There should be no rabid dogs.

Dog control ordinances, when enforced, will eliminate rabies.

England due to rigid control has no "mad" dogs.

There should be no roving dogs in Pennsylvania.

Death from rabies, which is preventable, is horrifying.

State Leads In Zinc Production

Thirty-Six Per Cent Of National Output Of Smelted Zinc Produced In State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 1—Claiming 36 per cent of the nation's entire output, Pennsylvania today is setting the pace for the rest of the United States in the smelting and refining of zinc.

Value of Pennsylvania's yearly output exceeds $40,000,000, according to figures compiled by the State Department of Commerce.

The industry is largely centered in two widely separated sections of the state—Carbon county, in the northeast, and Washington county, in the southwest. Its seven plants, located at Palmerton, Carbon county; Donora and Langeloth, Washington county; Bristol, Bucks county; Freemansburg, Northampton county, and Philadelphia, employ approximately 5,000 persons receiving wages and salaries of more than $8,000,000 a year.

Although no zinc has been mined in Pennsylvania for many years, other factors contribute to the state's predominance in the smelting and refining of this metal. Foremost among these are the proximity of great industrial markets for the smelter's products, of fuel, and of ore from the nearby Franklin furnace region, in northern New Jersey.

The most important use of metallic zinc is in galvanizing, and other uses include the manufacture of brass, of zinc sheets, and of alloys other than brass. Sulphuric acid is an important by-product of zinc smelting. Another product, zinc oxide, is used as a pigment.

Robot Artillery Spotter British Surprise Weapon

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 1.—A highly secret new robot artillery "spotter" is Great Britain's latest contribution to the war's surprise weapons.

The new device, now being turned out in large quantities as rapidly as possible in anticipation of a German spring offensive, is expected to be brought into play when large scale artillery duels begin on the western front.

Military experts predict the robot will largely outmode the World War stationary sausage balloon and will compete successfully with the reconnaissance plane.

The robot can detect the location of an enemy battery almost instantaneously, accurately charting its position for counter artillery fire.

The robot is called a "sound-ranger." It locates and computes an opposing battery by sound waves actuating a hyper-sensitive and complicated electrical apparatus.

It can "spot" a single battery, although many other batteries may be firing in the vicinity, and works even amid the tremendous Audal concatenation of front line operation.

The tonal pitch of the particular enemy battery is picked up by two sound-ranging microphones. The sound waves are automatically changed to electrical waves and transmitted with the velocity of light along the wires to headquarters, where they are recorded photographically on a moving strip of film.

The sound from one microphone produces one type of curve, the other microphone simultaneously produces a second curve. Where the curves intersect on a chart is the exact position of the battery or a single gun.

The location is telephoned back to the British batteries which immediately go into action to silence the enemy.

Last Fugitives From Morganza Are Recaptured

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 1—Caught in a police trap laid for them at Burgettstown, Pa., the last two of the 13 youths who escaped from the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza two weeks ago were back at the institution today.

The pair, John Kascsak, 18, Pittsburgh, and Joseph Orbus, 17, Donora, Pa., were captured in a stolen automobile early last night by Police Chief Sam Powell of Burgettstown and state police.

The two fell into the trap laid early yesterday afternoon when police received word from Sheriff W. D. Ferguson, Hancock county, W. Va., that the youths, fleeting in a stolen car, had crashed into an automobile in Holidays Cove, W. Va., and were headed for Washington county, Pa.

On February 16 the group escaped from Morganza, six being caught almost immediately and seven others, armed with pistols and butcher knives, were picked up later.

Artillery Duel On One Sector Of West Front

(International News Service)

PARIS, March 1.—An artillery duel broke out on the Lauter sector of the western front today after French guns dispersed several German patrols reconnoitering in that area.

The activity was described as follows by the official French war communique:

"A quiet night on the whole. There were patrols and firing activity in the region of Lauter."

News of the German ground scouting activity and the dispersal of the Nazis was contained in military reports to Paris.

In addition, it was disclosed that a sharp engagement occurred early yesterday between French and German patrols east of the Moselle river and that each side suffered losses. The French casualties were light, however, it was stated.

Today there were the usual front-line aviation activities but no combats developed. One German plane penetrated deep over eastern France

THYROID

As pointed out here yesterday, a baby born, with an abnormal thyroid that supplies him with no thyroid secretion, can grow up in normal fashion, if his condtion is recognized early enough and the proper treatment carried out.

Today it is in order to consider another disease of the thyroid which often makes its appearance in children between the age of ten and twelve. It is a dissease called hyperthyroidism and occurs in girls more often than boys.

Usually the first symptom noticed is an increasing nervousness. The child loses ability to concentrate on any one game or problem. She tends to jump around in flighty fashion from one activity to another, easily bored and easily deterred if there is any problem confronting her. Such a child appears at times to be brighter than the average and frequently answers questions and makes remarks that seem years ahead of her age. In spite of this her teacher will complain that she doesn't do well in school and will complain of her inattention.

Such a child will be thinner than normal and although her appetite will be excellent she will continue to become thinner. Such children are often emotionally and will suddenly show a tendency to cry over small disappointments that a year before wouldn't have bothered her at all.

Sooner or later she will show signs of heat intolerance. When others are comfortable in a room, she will complain of the heat. If her mother goes to her room in the middle of the night she will find that the child has thrown off most of the bed clothes. She may find it difficult to get to sleep, but once asleep she sleeps soundly.

As her condtion becomes worse, she grows more and more irritable and fussy. Her playmates will be mystified by her sudden outbursts of anger over trifles. She will tire easily and will no longer be able to keep up with the others in strenuous games.

Another symptom will be noticed in the eyes. These often take on a pecular starving look. They often seem to be sticking farther out of the child's head.

One thing I have always found dangerous in connection with hyperthyroidism in a child is the threat to the heart. You always find that such a child has a very rapid pulse, meaning the little heart is working much harder than it normally should. This alone can do some injury, and if it is complicated with some other disease—rheumatism for instance, damage to the heart is quite apt to be serious and permanent.

Some children exhibit all the symptoms we have just discussed, some exhibit only a few, but in any case they usually point to an over active thyroid which is a serious disease in children.

Salvage Fleet Increases Range

Powerful Dutch Fleet Ready To Aid Vessels In Distress

By FREDERICK SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON.—A powerful chain of salvage vessels today patrol the Atlantic ocean ready to aid any vessel that has been attacked by submarine or damaged by mine.

This fleet of ships is controlled by Dutch salvage experts, is capable of aiding vessels from the Newfoundland to the Irish coasts.

They are claimed to be the most up-to-date vessels of their kind in the world.

During peacetime these ships work around the British coast but because of the war and the large number of casualties at sea they have been sent further afield.

New Ship Launched

One is now stationed off Newfoundland and there are others off the Azores and Ireland.

The latest of these salvage vessels, the Zeeleuw, has just completed her trials and will soon join her sister ships.

Although built to work in the fiercest seas, the Zeeleuw has a draught of only six feet, this will enable her to pass through very shallow water and go to the assistance of stranded vessels.

Diving equipment and fire fighting aparatus is carried by all of these powerful vessels. Special engines are also fitted to drive large salvage pumps, each of which can disperse more than 1,000 tons of water per hour from a stricken ship.

Powerful And Speedy

The flagship of these ships, the Zwarte Zee, claimed to be the largest salvage tug afloat, is powered by diesel engines which give her a range of several thousand miles in which to search for disabled shipping and a speed of 17 knots.

A powerful radio room is also fitted to the Zwarte Zee. This has an ocean-wide receiving range. Radio operators keep a day and night vigil.

The crews of these ships, all salvage experts, face the Atlantic gales without setting foot on land for months at a time. But their pay is high and they all receive a share of salvage money.

During midsummer in these localities, the sun does not sink below the horizon at any time within the 24 hours of the day. Instead of setting, the sun merely goes around and around above the horizon, being part of the time in the north.

As a preliminary warm-up session, for the 75 members of the Union Township High school chorus, preparatory to taking part in the music and forensic contest in Slippery Rock, on March 30, a program has been planned for the local radio, Tuesday, March 5, at 2:45 p.m.

Front-line petroleum workers wear "invisible gloves" which come, like other magic, out of a bottle. They are in the form of a cream which is liquid enough to penetrate the pores of the skin, but thick enough to keep out grease, dirt, dust and acids, and may easily be removed by water.

The Golden Text

The Last Supper

"This do in remembrance of me."—I Cor. 11:24.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 3, is Matthew 26:1:30, the Golden Text being I Corinthians 11:24, "This do in remembrance of Me.")

"Then assembled together the chief priests and the scribes and the elders of the people, unto the palace of the high priest, who was called Caiaphas, and consulted that they might take Jesus by subtlety and kill him." This was Tuesday, April 4, A. D. 30, authorities tell us.

"But they said," the account records, "not on the feast day lest there be an uproar among the people." It was at this meeting that they decided to pay someone to betray Jesus to them.

Jesus, meanwhile, had gone to the home of Simon, the leper, who probably had been cured of his affliction. Historians say this occasion was either this same Tuesday or the Saturday before, April 1. While Jesus sat at a table with His friends a woman (we are told it undoubtedly was Mary, sister of Martha and Lazarus, who seem to have been well off) came to Him having a small alabaster box of precious ointment in her hands. This ointment was so expensive it yas said to be worth the pay of a common laborer for one whole year. Mary approached Jesus, brake the alabaster box and poured the precious ointment on Jesus' head as a token of her devotion.

Apostles Shocked

The apostles were scandalized at this extravagance. They said the ointment should have been sold and the money obtained given to the poor.

"When Jesus understood," says Matthew, He said: "Why trouble ye the woman for she hath wrought a good work upon me. For ye have the poor always with you: but Me ye have not always.

"For in that she hath poured this ointment on my body she did it for My burial.

"Verily I say unto you, wheresoever this gospel shall be preached in the whole world, there shall also this, that this woman hath done, be told for a memorial to her."

Just before this event Jesus had told His apostles that "after two days is the feast of the passover, and the Son of Man is betrayed to be crucified. Nowhere is it recorded how the apostles felt when Jesus made these statements, and whether they believed them and were sad thinking that such a terrible tragedy was so near. As Jesus finished speaking of the woman and her ointment, Judas Iscariot went out to the chief priests and asked them what they would give him for betraying his Master. They bargained with him for a thirty pieces of silver. From that time Judas sought an opportunity to betray his Lord.

One wonders why Jesus kept this man Judas among His friends and followers. He must have known what manner of man he was. Did He think that maybe His influence and teachings would change the man, or did He feel that someone would betray Him and Judas was appointed to do it?

Held in Upper Room

The Last Supper was held in an upper room in the house, it is surmised, of Lazarus, Mary and Martha. The disciples had asked where the Master wished to eat the feast. "Go into the city of such a man, and say unto him, I will keep the passover at thy house with My disciples." And the disciples had done as Jesus said.

There at the home of His friends, seated at the table with His apostles, He looked about at them and said, "Verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray Me."

Very sorrowfully each apostle asked Him, "Lord, is it I?" And when Judas asked as the rest Jesus answered, "Thou hast said." It is odd that the others did not understand and turn Judas out or put him where he could do no mischief. Or maybe, as all was planned, their eyes were blinded, their understanding dulled, or their hands were tied.

"And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is My body.

"And He took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it: for this is My blood of the new testament, which is shed for many of the remission of sins.

"But I say unto you, I will not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine, until that day when I drink it new with you in my Father's Kingdom."

"And when they had sung a hymn," says Matthew, "they went out into the Mount of Olives."

Two days later Jesus was to die on the cross not for any sin of His, but to redeem us.. Surely, we should strive to live the life He wished us to live, to follow in His footsteps as well as we are able, and so be fitted to meet Him in His Father's Kingdom.

Report Many Of R.F.C. Loans Are In Default

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 1.—More than 2000 loans made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, representing $448,000,000 in principal and interest, are in default, an official treasury report revealed today.

Final figures show that the RFC will reflect a $45,000,000 net loss on its operations during the 1939 fiscal year. This is the first year that the agency has operated in the "red" since it was established in 1932.

Nevertheless, Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones said that the RFC expects most of the loans now in default eventually to be repaid in full.

The treasury report disclosed that the RFC expects to lose $58,000,000 on the defaulted loans. The probable value of these loans is estimated at $390,000,000.

The losses sustained on the loans, however, will be absorbed by the corporation's profitable operations in prior years. Up to last June, the RFC rolled up a surplus of nearly $70,000,000.

The RFC's biggest losses will result from loans to closed banks. Statistics show that $103,000,000 is in default on bank loans. Of this amount, the corporation does not expect to get back more than $78,000,000.

Police headquarter briefs: Apparently shoplifting on a large scale has become a forgotten art here, which shopkeepers are glad to hear. Several arrests with punishment a few years ago helped solve the situation. . . . Only once or twice during the past several months has counterfeit or "queer" money been reported in circulation here. When such reports reach headquarters Secret Service operatives are notified and commence an immediate investigation. Several years ago several "passers" were captured in this city. . . . A year or more ago Marihuana cigarettes known as "reefers" reportedly were sold here. The salesmen were not captured but police did catch persons bringing a supply of the murder-creating weed from Ohio.

Assessment bureau notes: Additional clerks have been employed to help prepare the tax duplicates for city and school purposes. Mrs. Jennie Sankey is chief clerk. The millage having been designated by council the tax writing business now is in full sway. . . . As yet no assessor has been named. Daily several of the candidates may be seen strolling through city hall corridors, each hopeful that he may catch the favor of Finance Director James L. Fink. Some time ago Director Fink said he would confer with council as to who should be named assessor to fill A. C. Shoaf's role. About six persons seek the plum.

Street department notes: Director William H. Dunlap wants to know of city lawyers if compensation is due street employes who are injured while traveling to and from work. Two have been hurt recently. So far the company carrying some of the city's compensation has adopted the attitude no insurance is due the injured. The city pays about $7,500, for Workmen's compensation protection. The question may land before the Workmen's Compensation board. . . . King Weather has caused furrows in the forehead of Commissioner Jack Brettell. He hasn't had a good nights sleep in several weeks.

Parking Meter Law Violators Paying Fines

Approximately a score of motorists who failed to obey instructions of parking meter violation tickets were fined yesterday by Mayor Charles B. Mayne, in police traffic court.

In several instances a fine of only $1.00, instead of $2.50, was imposed. The car drivers were able to properly explain why they had not heeded the summons.

Another score of autoists are now being served with warrants and those who cannot ably explain why they did not honor the summons face a fine of $2.50 Police Chief M. J. Young stated.

Today Mayor Charles B. Mayne instructed Chief Young to order into headquarters, autoists who block driveways with their cars, and who fail to properly make left turns.

His Honor has noticed autoists, he told Young, blocking pedestrian cross-overs. The cars must be kept to the rear of the pedestrians right of-way until they have the right to proceed forward.

The mayor also told Young he has noticed cars making a "sweeping" left turn in downtown streets. He demands that they draw up to the center of the street and then make a sharp turn.

The mayor warned several weeks ago that he proposed taking erring motorists to task. He explained they must respect the rights of other motorists and also pedestrians.

Chinese Give Air Raid Figures

Assert 20,000 Civilians Were Killed In Seven-Month Period

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PEKING.—Forty-five thousand Chinese civilian casualties, including 20,000 killed, represent the work of Japanese naval and army air raiders during the seven months from January to July, 1939, according to the Chinese Aeronautical Commission in Chungking.

In the same period, Japanese aircraft dropped 32,000 bombs during 1,276 raids, the commission stated recently.

Some 64,000 houses were destroyed and 16,000 others partially damaged by Japanese bombs. Three hundred and eighty junks were blown to bits and 95 motor cars wrecked.

May was the most disasterous month of 1939. It is estimated that 14,000 people were killed in that month alone, chiefly through the concentrated Japanese raids on Chungking, war time capital of Nationalist China.

PRESERVING PARK AREAS NOBLE ART, SAYS AUTHORITY

(International News Service)

SANTA FE, N. M.—The work of identifying and preserving park areas in America is a high and noble art, much the same as painting or sculptoring, and is destined to become our greatest single guarantee against improverishment of the American scene and our distinctive native American culture, George L. Collins, of the National Park Service Planning Division, said recently.

Collins declared that the work of the Park Service is creative in that it creates beauty for the casual observer.

British Rationing System Is Working

By JAMES E. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON.—Rationing is working smoothly today in Britain.

This is the opinion of foreign observers who find that outside of a certain amount of redtape there is no inconvenience or actual shortage of food.

The weekly allowances of commodities are: butter, four ounces; sugar, twelve ounces; bacon or ham, uncooked, four ounces. If the ration of bacon or ham is bough cooked, the allowance is three and a half ounces.

Ration cards are not needed in restaurants, but each patron is given only one small piece of butter and only one lump of sugar for a cup of tea or a cup of coffee. This has started a system which reminds most Americans in London of the old Prohibition days in America. Waiters, with the air of doing a great favor, will look about furtively and bring their favorite customers an extra lump or sugar or a little more butter.

Only 'National Butter'

Private brands of butter no longer exist: there is only "national butter". This contains a certain percentage of margarine.

Marmalade, without which no Englishman's toast is complete, has been given a prominent place in the rationing. Housewives who wish to make marmalade are informed they may have three pounds of sugar per pound of oranges per person per year. The fruit dealer's receipt for the oranges must be produced.

Coffee and tea are not rationed. "We could probably ration coffee," said one official, "but there would be a revolution if we tried to ration tea."

W. S. Morrison, Minister of Food, made an eleventh hour concession when he announced persons buying a ham sandwich at a 'catering establishment" could eat it off the premises without giving up a coupon. Previously, one had to eat it on the premises. Commuters say this may make all the difference between catching or missing a train if the sandwich is bought, for example, at a railway buffet.

Rationing' of coures, does not affect the armed services. Seamen are getting 12 ounces of butter a week —three times as much as civilians— and six ouncs of bacon or ham.

BUILD PERSONALITY IN PRISON, IS PLEA

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 1.—Pointing to the failure of probation and parole to solve America's crime problem, Peter P. Klassen, instructor in sociology at Pennsylvania State College, recommended that "personality building" be made the keystone of our prison program.

"Institutional treatment," he said, "should evolve around a program of personality building, a program by means of which undesirable attitudes or character traits can be broken down and substituted by desirable ones."

No Request Made For British Ships To Use Dardanelles

(International News Service)

LONDON, March 1.—The British government has not requested Turkey to permit passage of British warships through the Dardanelles and has no intention of doing so, it was stated on high authority today.

Furthermore, it was said, the government has made no move aimed at revision of the Montreux convention under which Turkey controls the Dardanelles and has no intention of extending Anglo-French contraband control measures to the Black Sea.

All reports to the contrary, British sources added, should be branded "mischievous speculation."

This strong denial was issued after the London News Chronicle published a dispatch stating both Great Britain and Italy have applied to Turkey for permission to move their warships through the Dardanelles, according to rumors at Istanbul.

News Briefs From City Hall

Caretaker of parking meters Michael Melder today stated that thieves have stolen eight heads containing money boxes from parking meter standards. Police have been trying to apprehend the persons who made away with the heads. There is a severe penalty for the offense and Mayor Charles B. Mayne has promised to impose it if arrests are made.

Police have been considerably perturbed during the past several days by actions of persons whom they believe are mental cases. Several persons have been taken into custody on suspicion of molestation, open lewdness and other similar offenses. Chief of Detectives Willis McMullen has compiled a record of the alleged latest offenses, he reported today.

The even tenor of the county treasurer's office was broken Thursday morning when an accident befell Miss Stella Tomei, one of the staff. The young lady was moving a typewriter and in some manner got two of the fingers of her right hand jammed.

The fingers were badly bruised although not broken. A physician was called and later she was taken home.

The new book shelving for the law library is really something. One half of the new room is taken up with the equipment which is double decked. At present it looks like the steel skeleton of a two-story building.

Shelving will be placed on both floors of the structure with a stairway leading to the second floor. The old days of climbing a sliding ladder will be over for the law librarian, Mrs. Winifred James.

The permanent registration office is ready for any rush of voters that might come. Chief Clerk Charles Ross and his staff have been putting their records in shape for the past three weeks and they are ready now to take on any crowd of voters that appears.

Voters who failed to exercise their franchise in the two years last past must re-register and in order to vote on April 23 in the primary election they will have to get to it shortly. Two special registration periods have been set one for New Castle on March 1 and 2 in the office of Alderman James C. Brice and one for West Pittsburg.

'Greyhounds' Trip West Newton Five; Paul Minner Stars

New Wilmington Cops 35-29 Thriller In Pitt Stadium, Thursday

SECTION 20 CHAMPS ARE SENSATIONAL

"Greyhounds" Reach Semi-Final Round; Minner Scores 18 Points

Spearheaded by the ambidextrous Paul "Gulliver" Minner, New Wilmington High's versatile cagers steered their ship closer to the WPIAL Class B diadem by whaling West Newton, 35-29, Thursday night on the Pitt Stadium hardwood.

The 4,000 wild-eyed fans saw the most thrilling game of the current tourney as the excited schoolboys raced up and down the big court like a horde of Challedons or Seabiscuits. The game gained momentum as it progressed. As the clash reached the waning moments, the gallery was nearly hysterical.

The locals marched ahead when Sharp took Minner's tip-off, dribbled down the side and bagged a one-handed howitzer. Scholl zipped a long double decker, tieing the count. Pearson's side shot gave the miniature Titans a 4-2 margin. Scholl's foul was good, narrowing the gap, 4-3. Pearson and Scholl each missed foul tries. Wilson converted one out of two free heaves to widen New Wilmington's lead, 5-3.

Locals Lead, 8-5

Norbert Borowicz electrified the stands with a sensational one-handed flip from the side. He was also fouled and converted. Scholl's long shot cut New Wilmington's lead 8-5, as the opening period gun popped. The Hornets succeeded in bottling Minner. The skyscraping courtster didn't even take one shot throughout the period.

As hostilities resumed, Minner was awarded two free throws. Both tries were good. E. Hula missed a foul but grabbed the ball off the bankboard and scored. The board showed a 10-7 Greyhound lead. Scholl dropped a pretty one handed flip, West Newton now trailed by a lone marker. Pearson muffed a pair of free tosses for the locals. A. Hula missed a free heave.

West Newton took the lead when Scholl rang the bell from near midcourt. Minner chalked his first field goal from past the charity line, giving New Wilmington a 12-11 edge. Means replaced N. Borowicz for the "Greyhounds." Lindauer popped in a fielder from the side. He was also fouled but missed. The Hornets led, 13-12.

The locals regained the lead when Minner dropped a long shot. Sharp missed a foul. E. Hula committed his four personal and left the court. West Newton marched ahead, 15-14, thanks to a pretty one-handed toss by Clement. He was also fouled but missed. Wilson shot from near the center and scored. Lindauer made good one out of two fouls, deadlocking the count, 16-16, a few seconds before the end of the half.

N. Borowicz Out

As the third period started, Norbert Borowicz committed his fourth personal. Means replacing him. Means missed two fouls but the alert Minner snatched the sphere and scored, breaking the deadlock. Hand converted one out of two. The "Greyhounds" now sported an 18-17 margin. Minner won the ball in a scramble under the hoop and flipped it in.

A. Hula potted one out of two Annie Oakleys, narrowing the gap, 20-18. Scholl fired from long range and scored. Lindauer broke the 20-all tie by scoring from under the basket. R. Borowicz, who came in for Means, tallied from the side, deadlocking the score. After Pearson missed a foul, West Newton moved the ball down the floor, Clement scoring from the side. R. Borowicz made good one out of two fouls. The third period ended with West Newton ahead, 24-23.

Minner Shines

Minner filled in the pivot post which had been vacant during most of the night. From this spot, he potted a nice shot, putting his mates ahead, 25-24. The lanky performer grabbed the ball and scored from the side. He tallied twice in less than a minute. A. Hula's side shot cut the locals' lead, 27-26. Spinning around from the pivot slot, Minner scored again. Wilson followed with a one-handed shot as New Wilmington led, 31-26.

Scholl's two charity heaves were off as was Minner's free try. Jim Pearson cinched matters by flipping a shot flom past the foul mark. With less than two minutes to go, the college towners sported a 33-26 lead. Lindauer came through with a long one for West Newton and Hand registered a foul for the losers' 29th point. Two seconds before the end of the clash, Minner tallied his eighth field goal from under the hoop.

Minner's one man show in the final period was the feature of the game. He scored 18 points. His supporting cast was up to par. Sharp's ball handling was noteworthy. Wilson played the best game of the season. Pearson seemed somewhat shy at the start of hostilities. He soon got over that and was in the thick of the battle. For West Newton, Scholl and "Red" Lindauer were outstanding.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Fight fans who witnessed a splendid amateur boxing card recently will see another March 18 when Diamond belt champions and others who did not win crowns in the tournament at Pittsburgh, exchange wallops. No doubt the calendar now being arranged will prove magnetic. Local fans have during years gone by not only witnessed a champion being developed, but also near-titlists being groomed. They saw other "pro greats" in action. Since the depression caught up with sports the pro game took a slide. However, there later was born, amateur boxing.

New Castle fans were numerous in the Rayen-Wood auditorium last night. Councilman Joe Alexander, Eddie Wish, Ben Brown, Frank Crisci, Pete Chill, Billy Fazzone, Phil Greer and others were seen. Jimmy Jones, once a contender for welterweight honors, was one of the referees. He was managed by the late Mickie Stambaugh. Tony Zill, who fought Bat Terry twice, was another referee. The third arbiter was Johnny Corbett. Steve Morgan, Joey Simms and Ernie Pelai lost their amateur status by fighting professionally last night. Amateur rules prohibit anyone connected with the amateur boxing game of participating in a professional event.

Henry Armstrong will bid for his fourth title tonight when he fights Ceferino Garcia in Los Angeles. Ceferino holds the 160 pound championship of New York and California. Some believe that Hammerin' Henry's hands may not hold out. The writer wouldn't be surprised to see him emerge a winner. . . . Coach "Tuss" McLaughry, head coach of football at Brown, visited Dr. John B. Sutherland at Pittsburgh yesterday. McLaughry will coach the College All-Stars for their game with the Giants in New York, next fall. Sutherland formerly was the tutor.

Jimmy Demaret, Houston, won the St. Petersburg open golf tourney with a 211 for the 54 holes, nosing out Byron Nelson, national open champion, by one stroke. . . . Freddy Lenn and Johnny Dean will fight again at Youngstown. No date has been set. Each now has won a decision. . . . Lawrence County Sportsmen's association will be unable to secure Col. Theodore Roosevelt to speak on hunting here. The colonel is in California.

Dean And Zale Win Ohio Bouts

Dean Gets Award Over Lenn, Zale Stops Ianozzi In Fourth

YAROSZ AND KNOX WIN AT CLEVELAND

Johnny Dean, local middleweight, was given the decision over Freddy Lenn of Pittsburgh, in six rounds last night in Youngstown. Lenn's left to the face had Dean puzzled in the early rounds, but in the fifth and sixth Dean scored with a heavy right uppercut. He forced the fighting and was the stronger at the end of the battle. It was the semi-final battle.

In the main fight, Tony Zale of Gary, who recently beat Al Hostak, stopped Enzo Ianozzi, middleweight champion of Italy, in the fourth round. Zale studied Enzo during the first two rounds but in the third went to work and had Enzo in a bad way. Zale knocked the Italian out in the fourth round.

Former Amateurs Win

Joey Simms, Youngstown, former amateur, won a technical knockout over Ray Scanlon of Warren in the second, and Steve Morgan, Youngstown, also a former amateur, flattened Al Starcevic of Canton, who also made his debut as a pro, in the first round. Milton Glass, Akron, won a technical kayo over Milt Tanner, Youngstown, in one round and Ernie Pelai, former amateur of Monaca, beat Vic Arnold of Poland in a four round battle.

At Cleveland, Teddy Yarosz, former middleweight champion, weighing 172 pounds, boxed his way to a decision over Willie Muddune of Cleveland in 10 rounds and Buddy Knox of Dayton, beat Jorges Brescia of Argentine in a 10-round heavyweight match.

Mel Miller Ties Up Game At 40-40, But Titans Lose In Over-Time

SIMMERS-FOX HIGH SCORERS

(Special To The News)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., March 1—It took the Waynesburg Yellow Jackets an extra-period to defeat a hard-fighting Westminster Titan basketball team here last night 48 to 45. The regulation game ended 40-40 when Captain Mel Miller of the Titans snagged a field goal just as the gun sounded.

Field goals in rapid order by Hetra and Fox gave the invaders from New Wilmington a 44 to 40 lead in the first minute or so of the overtime. Bob Simmers, Waynesburg center and high-point man with 19 for the night, caged a field goal and foul to make it 44-43 with the Jackets creeping up.

Beisler Wins Game

Jack Beisler, McKeesport lad playing forward, made a field goal and foul to put the Waynesburgians ahead 46 to 44. Miller added a foul to the Titan score, but Beisler iced the contest for the Waynesburgs with a field goal seconds before the gun sounded to end the torrid engagement.

Simmers, Beisler and Pasquale were the high-scoring stars for the Waynesburg team, with Fox, Ridl and J. Hetra best for the Titans in the matter of scoring.

The game last night ended a two-day trip for the Titans, the New Wilmington team having trimmed Bethany on Wednesday night.

Sports World Ramblings

Shaffer off—Fred Shaffer is off to answer baseball's perennial bugle call. Physically fit following a winter of activity, the local blond pitching star left today for Louisville to join the rest of the Colonels. Soon, the Louisville squad will arrive in Arcadia, Fla. where they will undergo a severe training grind. The local 24 year old athlete left the city weighing 195 pounds, five pounds overweight. The coming season marks Shaffers fourth campaign in the torrid American Association race. "My arm feels great. I can't wait until I get out there to pitch. I feel that I'll do much better than I did last year. (Shaffer won 9 and lost 4). I'm in excellent condition," the ruddy Highland Heights athlete said..

Local bit....Jimmy Pagley, one of the most talented golfers in the district, is off for Florida. The lanky localite will spend the next few weeks swinging around some of those swanky links. Pat Scopio, South Mercer street, is accompanying the popular niblick swinger.... "Jewie" Coen, who has been on the sick list for sometime, is improving...."Bill" Klee, New Castle High's track manager, is outlining this season's cinder path program. Soon as the weatherman softens up, which won't be for a while, the Hurricane speedsters will start their jaunt around Taggart Stadium....

Diamond cocktail....Mel Ott is one of baseball's shyest fellows. One of the game's top men, Mel never sounds his own horn. His timidity extends even to his home. He lives in an attractive home located in an out-of-the-way sector. The house is hidden behind a mass of shrubbery. When you reach the Ott home, you won't find a doorbell. Does he have a phone? Yes. But he has a blind number. His favorite pastime—after baseball—golf.....

The coming Finnish Relief Fund game starring the American and National League bigwigs figure to draw $25,000. Hank Greenberg says he'll likely miss this one. Grovers-Thiel To Play Tonight At Grove City

GROVE CITY, March 1—Having played a lot of good basketball, but lost half a dozen games by narrow margins this year, the Grove City college passers scent victory here tonight when they meet Thiel college, their county rivals, in the final home game of the year. Despite a 41-32 set-back in the first game at Greenville, the Grovers are confident as they face the Tomcats and ring down the curtain.

On the basis of his work at forward against Clarion, Tuesday, Raed Patterson is likely to start at the position Friday. As a regular center, with an occasional shift to guard, the local boy turned in a fine performance upcourt, and with Fowler improving steadily at center, it is probable that the forward post will be Raed's regular job in the three remaining games, as well as next season.

The combination of Walter Moore and Raed Patterson at forward unites a former Grove City high school scoring team. Between them, they have been responsible for a majority of the points scored by the Crimson squad this year.

Mory Patterson, Jamestown, N. Y., senior, will close a four-year career on the home hardwood Friday. The fastest man on the squad, Mory has been given the hardest defensive assignments all year, and while holding opposing stars to limited scoring, has frequently been high-point man for his team. In his final football appearance last fall, he turned in a sensational game, so local fans are expecting another brilliant swan-song.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

According to a report handed in by our secret agent . . . we understand that the vacuum plungers that are used in cleaning out clogged sink drain can be used on the bald plates of men who wish to recapture their hair. Poor blood circulation in the scalp sometimes causes baldness and this vacuum outfit stimulates the circulation and if nothing more, makes the dome feel better. At least it's something to think about.

Here is a little poem that comes from a Scout Newspaper published in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania . . . it seems rather good and no doubt we all could read and remember it. (Sent in by Fred Logan, Editor in Chief of Kibo News, New Castle.)

Boost your city, Boost your friend,
Boost the church that you attend.
Boost the street on which your dwelling,
Boost the goods that you are selling.
Boost the people round about you,
They can get along without you.
But success will quicker find them,
If they know that your behind them.
Boost for every forward movement,
Boost for every new improvement.
Boost the man for whom you labor,
Boost the neighbor, Boost the stranger (Visa Versa)
Cease to be a chronic knocker,
Cease to be a progress-blocker.
If you'd make your city better,
Boost it to the final letter.

Here it is the first day of March . . . a lot of people will be wondering what the official record will be concerning that old tale . . . Did it come in as a lion or a lamb. We will make no comment, because we are usually wrong on the weather prediction anyway. Here's to a good spring and the first day will be here before you know it.

STOCKS

Stock Market Is Irregular

Prices Drift With Little Indication Of Trend Up Or Down

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 1.—The stagnation which has held the stock market for weeks continued today. Prices drifted in an irregular way, giving no indication of a definite trend up or down. The tape was at a standstill several times during the session.

U. S. Steel drifted almost a point lower and its decline influenced a few other steels. Allied Chemical dropped 1½, but other chemicals were off only slightly. American Tobacco B. also lost a point.

Motors were mixed and very quiet. Aircraft stocks were unchanged to small fractions lower. Coppers were firm; oils mixed. Electrical equipment stocks held steady. Mail order issues were mixed.

VON RIBBENTROP HAS CONFERENCE WITH U. S. ENVOY

Instead, it said, they should continue their friendly relations with Germany "especially now that the Reich is tied up by such close bonds with the Soviet Union".

Satisfied With War

"The greater Reich is fully satisfied with the course of the war so far," this statement said.

"Germany is conscious of its military superiority and its economic invincibility. The whole Reich confidently awaits the inevitable decision, so eagerly anticipated by the young nations of Europe, especially Fascist Italy.

"German defense forces continued to stand by awaiting the order to strike a decisive blow. The time of this no one knows, but when it comes, it will overshadow all previous military conceptions."

Responsible German quarters, describing the interview which launched Welles' history-making tour of Europe's warring capitals, outlined Von Ribbentrop's argument as follows:

No Armistice

"Until this English tyranny of world trade is ended and freedom of the seas restored, any suggestion of an armistice or summoning a conference around a green-baize table represents waste motion so far as Germany is concerned."

It was generally acknowledged that Hitler himself would re-emphasize this point of view when he receives Welles late tomorrow afternoon.

Reliable spokesmen closely connected with the foreign office said that Von Ribbentrop confronted the American emissary with this blunt question:

"What use is peace if it gives only a brief breathing spell enabling the world powers to race toward some new conflict?"

These responsible quarters gave no intimation of Welles' reaction to the argument, affording the impression that the American under-secretary of state played only a listening role while Von Ribbentrop expounded his argument.

The foreign minister went into great detail to convince Welles that Germany never could rest content while Britain rules the seas, it was said, citing British sovereignty over such vital points on the world trade routes at Malta, Gibraltar and Suez.

HALF MILLION SOVIET TROOPS BATTLE FINNS

ward near the Nautis region, where the Finns have retired to strong defenses.

Doubt was expressed, however, that the Finns would be able to hold the Russians, and officials in Helsinki admitted they considered the situation grave.

As the Russian pressure against the Mannerheim line increased, especially in the Middle and Western sector, reports from the front said it was uncertain whether the Red Army forces actually were winning new ground but that the Russian military steamroller "probably was grinding ahead."

Terrible Violence

Military dispatches said the battle outside Viborg was raging with "terrible violence" and the Russian reinforcements were constantly arriving at the front.

The finns were reported defending their positions with grim determination and were said to have retired to their latest prepared positions in good order. The Russians so far have failed to score a clean break through the Mannerheim line, authorities maintained.

(Editor's note: The London News Chronicle stated that the Russians now are only two miles from Viborg and can see the glow from the city's burning buildings from the positions there they are consolidating for a "final" attack. The Soviet communique said the Red Army forces had advanced to a point 1.2 miles from Viborg.)

Unofficial but reliable reports said that the intensity of the Russian drive and the relative scarcity of Finnish reserves may force the Finns to abandon Viborg in the near future.

The latest Finnish retreat has caused evacuation of the whole region east of the Viborg-Terijoki railroad which became untenable after the Russians drove a funnel-shaped salient into the western part of the Mannerheim line, and later extended this to the shores of Viborg Bay.
